

JOAN RUSTY WAHL

Painting, Oils, Mixed Media, Watercolor, Assemblages

About the Artist:

Since the age of 12, Joan Rusty Wahl wanted to be a performing artist and a painter. As a teen she ran an arts program for children at summer camp, where painting, acting, music, writing plays and directing became an important part of her life. Her colorful abstracts filled her parent's home, where guests would often ask to purchase them.

In 1972 while exhibiting at the Winter Park Art Festival, Florida, she envisioned a magazine dedicated to artists in every media that would help them show and sell their creations. For 20 years she was editor and publisher of Sunshine Artist magazine.

Rusty has studied watercolor with Terry Madden the host of a nationally syndicated public television series. Also oil painting with the Bob Ross group of professionals.

She enjoys teaching at area arts and crafts outlets as well as private classes she holds several times a year. Her paintings have been shown at the Maitland Art Center, Gallery at Avalon, Gallery at Metro, Panache Art & Gifts, Offices and Theatre space.

What Others Say:

"Studying the modern art of Rusty Wahl can be an intriguing experience. Her work is creative, modern and subjective-and the viewer is free to make any of several different interpretations of each piece."

"No art can move me like yours. No other artist has the same depth of emotion and appreciation for color that I find in your work.".....

"WOW, I love the line and the colors of your latest work. You have done some amazing things. I love the fact that your talents are so versatile."...

Rusty is concentrating on Assemblages and abstracts in oil but loves to do flowers and parrots in watercolor. She is available for commissioned work.
